These condensed interim financial statements have been prepared in accordance with IAS 34 – Interim Financial Reporting. Certain information and note disclosures normally included in annual financial statements prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) have been omitted or condensed, and therefore the condensed interim financial statements do not include all of the information required for annual financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the Company’s audited financial statements for the 97-day period ended November 30, 2020, including the accompanying notes thereto.

The Board of Directors approved these condensed interim financial statements on August 19, 2021.

b) Basis of measurement

c) Going concern

These financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which presumes that the Company and Sprout AI will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business in the foreseeable future. As at August 31, 2021, the Company had a deficit of $(673,579) (November 30, 2020 - $149) and anticipates that losses will be incurred in future periods. As at July 31, 2021 Sprout AI S.A had a deficit of $ (1,078,324) (October 30, 2020 – (768,523) and anticipates that losses will be incurred in future periods. The Company’s and Sprout AI’s ability to continue as a going concern and meet its corporate objectives will require additional financing through debt or equity issuances or other available means. There is no assurance that the Company or Sprout AI will be able to obtain adequate financing in the future or that such financing will be available on terms advantageous to the Company. These conditions indicate the existence of material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. These financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of recorded asset amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue its existence.

Since March 2020, several measures have been implemented in Canada and the rest of the world in response to the increased impact from novel coronavirus (COVID-19). The Company and Sprout AI continues to operate their business at this time. While the impact of COVID-19 is expected to be temporary, the current circumstances are dynamic and the impacts of COVID-19 on business operations cannot be reasonably estimated at this time. The impact of COVID-19 on the Company’s business, results of operations, financial position and cash flows in 2021 cannot be determined at this time.

Certain new accounting standards and interpretations have been published that are not mandatory for the Company's August 31, 2021 reporting period or Sprout AI's July 31, 2021 reporting period. Management does not expect these standards will have a significant impact on the measurement or presentation of balances or transactions as reported in these financial statements.

7. CUSTOMER DEPOSITS

The Customer deposits consist of funds paid by customers for Sprout AI Habitats based on the sales agreement. All deposits are non-refundable.

8. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company's and Sprout AI's financial instruments consist of cash, accounts payable and loan receivable. Unless otherwise noted, it is management's opinion that the Company and Sprout AI are not exposed to credit, liquidity or market risks arising from these financial instruments.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of potential loss to the Company or Sprout AI if the counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations. The Company's or Sprout AI's credit risk is primarily attributable to its liquid financial assets including cash and loan receivable. The Company or Sprout AI limits its exposure to credit risk on liquid financial assets through maintaining its cash with high-credit quality financial institutions. Loan receivable consists of amounts paid to Sprout in connection to the LOI. The credit risk is considered low.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company or Sprout AI will not be able to meet its obligations as they become due. The Company and Sprout AI have historically relied upon equity financings to satisfy its capital requirements and will continue to depend heavily upon equity capital to finance its activities. There can be no assurance the Company or Sprout AI will be able to obtain required financing in the future on acceptable terms. The Company and Sprout AI anticipated they will need additional capital in the future to finance ongoing operations, such capital to be derived from the exercise of outstanding warrants and/or the completion of other equity financings. The Company and Sprout AI have limited financial resources, has no source of operating income and has no assurance that additional funding will be available to fund its beverage operations, although the Company and Sprout AI have been successful in the past in financing its activities through the sale of equity securities.

The ability of the Company and Sprout AI to arrange additional financing in the future will depend, in part, on the prevailing capital market conditions and operational success. There can be no assurance that continual fluctuations in price will not occur. Any quoted market for the common shares may be subject to market trends generally, notwithstanding any potential success of the Company and Sprout AI in creating revenue, cash flows or earnings.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk. The Company is not exposed to significant market risk.

8. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS (CONT'D)

Fair value measurements of financial assets

Financial instruments that are measured subsequent to initial recognition at fair value are grouped in Levels 1 to 3 based on the degree to which the fair value is observable:

- Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;
- Level 2 – Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 – Inputs that are not based on observable market data.

As at August 31, 2021 and November 30, 2020, cash and accounts payable is measured as a Level 1 financial instrument. The loan receivable is measured as a Level 2 financial instrument.

As at July 31, 2021 for Sprout AI cash is measured as a Level 1 financial instrument. The loan receivable is measured as a Level 2 financial instrument.

The Company and Sprout AI believe that the recorded values of its cash and loan receivable approximate their current fair values because of their nature and relatively short maturity dates or durations.

9. CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

The Company's and Sprout AI consider its capital to be the main component of shareholders' equity. The objective when managing capital is to maintain adequate levels of funding to support the development of its business and maintain the necessary corporate and administrative functions to facilitate these activities. The company is transitioning from primary reliance on equity financing to reliance on non-refundable client deposits. Future financings are dependent on market conditions and there can be no assurance the Company will be able to raise funds in the future. There were no changes to the Company's approach to capital management since incorporation. The Company is not subject to externally imposed capital requirements. There were no changes to the Company's approach to capital management during the period. The Company is not subject to externally imposed capital requirements.

10. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

On September 21, 2021 Sprout AI was selected as the cultivation technology of choice for the purpose of cultivating controlled substances for JT Medical LLC ("JT Medical") based in Pennsylvania, USA. An estimate of the full financial effect of this event cannot be made at this time.
