SUMMARY DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

What is our business?

Ucore is focused on critical metals separation technologies with near term potential for production, growth and scalability. The Company's vision and plan is to become a leading advanced technology company, providing separation products and services to the critical metals industry. Through strategic partnerships, this plan includes developing a vertically integrated North American rare earth element ("REE") supply chain, disrupting the People's Republic of China's control of this supply chain, establishing long-term feedstock supply relationships, developing a heavy and light rare-earth processing facility in the U.S. State of Louisiana, developing subsequent strategic metals complexes ("SMCs") in the United States and Canada, establishing long-term relationships with metal/alloy and magnet makers, and the longer-term development of the Company's heavy-REE mineral-resource property at Bokan Mountain on Prince of Wales Island, Alaska.

On May 8, 2020, the Company acquired Innovation Metals Corp. ("IMC"), a private company focused on the research and development of technologies, including IMC's proprietary RapidSX™ process for the expected relatively low-cost separation and purification of REEs and other technology metals, via an accelerated form of solvent extraction. IMC is currently commercializing this approach for REEs to help enable mining, metal-recycling and other companies to compete in today's global marketplace.

In Q4 2023, Ucore completed the formal commissioning program of its RapidSX™ REE commercial demonstration plant located in Kingston, Ontario, and is now in the process of demonstration testing of its RapidSX™ separation technology with a variety of prospective feedstocks. These demonstrations are prerequisite and corequisite activities to: (i) the prospective physical creation of the Company's planned SMC located in Louisiana, USA; and (ii) the Company's participation in associated joint venture opportunities related to the use of its RapidSX™ process.

On May 29, 2025, Ucore held a formal ground-breaking ceremony for the SMC in Louisiana, which is the Company's first commercial REE refining facility.

Additionally, the Company has an effective 100% ownership stake in the Bokan-Dotson Ridge Project, which is a REE deposit planned to be developed at Bokan Mountain in Southeast Alaska, USA. The development of a mine at Bokan and the potential future development of a nearby Alaska

SMC are part of Ucore's strategy to develop a North American REE supply chain that is particularly focused on the REEs needed for the magnets going into electric vehicle motors.

Recent developments

On January 31, 2025, the Company announced the closing of a non-brokered private placement (the "January 2025 Private Placement") of 3,600,000 Units at a price of $0.60 per Unit, for gross proceeds of $2,160,000. Each Unit consisted of one Common Share and one Common Share purchase warrant, with each whole warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase one Common Share at a price of $0.75 for a 36-month term following the closing date. Proceeds from the January 2025 Private Placement are being used for general corporate working capital purposes.

On February 28, 2025, the Company announced the closing of a non-brokered private placement (the "February 2025 Private Placement") of 1,955,800 Units at a price of $0.60 per Unit, for gross proceeds of $1,173,480. Each Unit consisted of one Common Share and one Common Share purchase warrant, with each whole warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase one Common Share at a price of $0.75 for a 36-month term following the closing date. Proceeds from the February 2025 Private Placement are also being used for general corporate working capital purposes.

On May 29, 2025, the Company held a formal ground-breaking ceremony for its SMC located at the England Airpark in Alexandria, Louisiana. The SMC is the first step in Ucore's commercial deployment of the RapidSX™ technology platform. It is anticipated that, once operational, the 80,800-square-foot brownfield facility will produce commercial quantities of critical REEs, such as neodymium, praseodymium, dysprosium, and terbium, which are essential to produce rare earth permanent magnets for electric vehicles, wind turbines and national defense applications.

On June 2, 2025, the Company announced that it has executed a definitive contract for the Company's largest financing agreement to date, the US$18.4 million follow-on first-stage production award from the U.S. Department of Defense ("U.S. DoD") that was preliminarily announced by the Company on May 14, 2025. This award brings total funding under the Company's existing Other Transaction Agreement ("OT Agreement") with U.S. Army Contracting Command-Orlando to US$22.4 million (approximately $30.7 million). The funding awards that the Company receives from the DoD pursuant to the OT Agreement, as amended by the aforementioned definitive contract (the "Amended OT Agreement"), are non-repayable by the Company. The purpose of the additional US$18.4 million award from the U.S. DoD is to facilitate the construction of the Company's first commercial RapidSX™ machine and supporting infrastructure at its SMC in Alexandria, Louisiana.

Although the Company intends to expend the proceeds from the Offering as set forth above, there may be circumstances where, for sound business reasons, a reallocation of funds may be deemed prudent or necessary and may vary materially from that set forth above, as the amounts actually allocated and spent will depend on a number of factors, including the Company's ability to execute on its business plan.
